Why There Is No God

A theist and anti-theist are arguing about the existence of God. The theist has discussed the anthropic principle (that the universe is designed to support human life), but isn't getting very far and decides to use his "ultimate" question to stump the atheist; "Why is there something instead of nothing?"

Why is There Something Instead of Nothing?

Question: "Why does God require faith? Why doesn't God "prove" Himself to us so there is no need for faith?" Answer: Our relationship with God is similar to our relationship with others in that all relationships require faith. We can never fully know any other person.
