Thank you so much Rachel.. We started the Ferber training last night with our 5.5 month old daughter. It was rough... She cried over an hour intervals , with falling asleep between 1.5-2 hours until after midnight, where she woke up at 5:00am (from falling asleep and feeding at 12:30am) I guess I can say , not bad ..

Note 1: This phenomenon is the same if you are trapped underwater in anything, including your car. The water pressure against a car window would freeze it in its track and prevent it from being rolled down as well. Therefore it is a good idea to keep something heavy in the passenger compartment to smash the window in the unlikely event of being submerged in your car.
