I suppose writers have the right to kill his characters at will, but have to agree with dissappointedme. I've finished "A Dance With Dragons" (no spoilers here, so no names) and certain deaths, and particularly one, (guess many will agree with me) are very frustrating, and leave the impression that the author writes himself into a helpless situation and then kills the most important ...

Magie Noire, which means "black magic" in French, is a classic fragrance from the house of Lancome. Magie Noire has a unique composition which doesn't follow the classical top note, middle note, and base note development. It resembles a figure eight; it opens and fully reveals its character while the direction of its development suddenly changes, and it starts to move in the opposite ...
