We Become What Worship A

We Become What We Worship. In whole-life worship of God, our minds are being transformed, and we are being conformed to the image of Christ (see Colossians 3:10). In the act of idolatry, as a heart worships a created image, it is being conformed to the world in its unnatural twistedness (see Romans 1:18-27).

We become what we worship – NT Wright. Those who worship power define themselves in terms of it and treat other people as either collaborators, competitors, or pawns. These and many other forms of idolatry combine in a thousand ways, all of them damaging to the image-bearing quality of the people concerned and of those whose lives they touch.”.

We become what we worship - NT Wright - KeithFerrin.com

We are by nature worshiping creatures, and we will eventually become like what we worship. If that is God, we will be molded into God's image (which is what we were created to do). But if we worship idols, we will become like idols.

We Become What We Worship: A Biblical Theology of Idolatry

To understand this concept, we have to understand the origins of the word worship. The word worship comes from the Old English worðscip or wurðscip —or worthship—meaning “condition of being worthy, dignity, glory, distinction, honor, renown.”. To worship something is to see worth in a person or object.

We Become What We Worship - Seth Adam Smith

If you worship the living God, you will become like him, with all his vibrancy, relationships, and character. Although we live in the twenty-first century, we still can see the widespread worship of false idols. Some worship the idols of money, houses, power, and position.

We Become Like What We Worship: Psalm 115 - Seedbed

We Become What We Worship. The focus of the psalm is on the deliberate construction of silver, gold, and other materials into a god to be worshiped (v. 4). The psalmist looks at the statues and sees what looks like a mouth, eyes, ears, nose, hands feet, and chests. But they have no functionality; none of these things are working (vv. 5-7).

We Become What we Worship | HeadHeartHand Blog

We have become like creatures straining at a leash that protects us from harm. God lets go of the leash, and we 'act out' our worldview shaped by our 'worship' (1:24) – for example: Therefore God gave them over in the sinful desires of their hearts to sexual impurity for the degrading of their bodies with one another.
