Hillbrow (/ˈhɪlbɹoʊ/) is an inner city residential neighbourhood of Johannesburg, Gauteng Province, South Africa. It is known for its high levels of population density, unemployment, poverty, prostitution and crime. In the 1970s it was an Apartheid-designated "whites only" area but soon became a "grey area", where people of different ethnicities lived together.

1. Introduction. A feature of contemporary globalization has been the increased, extended and intensified mobility of migrants from, to and through the global countryside (Woods, 2007). In many rural regions, this has been experienced primarily in terms of heightened out-migration, either to domestic cities or internationally, on a permanent or temporary basis, as individuals engage with the ...
