Multiple choice or objective response is a form of an objective assessment in which respondents are asked to select only correct answers from the choices offered as a list. The multiple choice format is most frequently used in educational testing, in market research, and in elections, when a person chooses between multiple candidates, parties, or policies.

Well, if you ask me "what is wrong with this code", my answer is: it is a classical example of the reasons why people that don't know Batch files enough thinks that Batch file programming is rudimentary and crude, and that Batch is not really a "programming language".. It is possible to use the exact same method in any "real programming language" (like C#, Java, Phyton, etc).
