"What's Love Got to Do with It" is a song recorded by the American singer Tina Turner, released in 1984. It was taken from her fifth solo album, Private Dancer and became Turner's most successful single. Although Turner had already scored a UK Top 10 and US Top 30 hit some months earlier with her rendition of "Let's Stay Together", "What's Love Got to Do with It" gave Turner her first and only ...

Human Food. I love boudin noir, also known as blood sausage (or black pudding, if you're reading this from merry old England). It's rich and fatty and flavorful, and delicious when baked with apples and maple syrup. Yet my wife won't eat it. Why? Because it's made largely of blood and, like so many others in the West, she is accustomed to eating only muscles.
