The social history of viruses describes the influence of viruses and viral infections on human history. Epidemics caused by viruses began when human behaviour changed during the Neolithic period, around 12,000 years ago, when humans developed more densely populated agricultural communities. This allowed viruses to spread rapidly and subsequently to become endemic.

The history of virology — the scientific study of viruses and the infections they cause — began in the closing years of the 19th century. Although Louis Pasteur and Edward Jenner developed the first vaccines to protect against viral infections, they did not know that viruses existed. The first evidence of the existence of viruses came from experiments with filters that had pores small ...

There is the issue of fire and prophecy. In the Notre Dame fire — which has sparked worldwide attention to the good side of our Church, at the most intense time of year — some saw Jesus in the flames.. Once, when Padre Pio was asked about the future, he replied with a question: "Can't you see the fire?" At Akita in Japan, a deaf nun "heard" the Virgin Mary predict to her that if ...
