White Lines : Jennifer Banash

We follow the journey of a lost and broken girl who has everything to loose but also so much to gain. Her choices made along the way make White Lines a enthralling read. Author Jennifer Banash wrote such a heart breaking and intense book that will leave readers thinking about the book long after the last page.

White Lines is a hard-hitting story of the dark, drug-laced 1980s club scene in New York City, and will appeal to readers who enjoy the works of Bret Easton Ellis or have an interest in that era. It's a very dark, upsetting story, but a worthwhile one. I will be curious to see what Banash tackles next.

Being a teenager is hard. Understatement of the century, huh? Seriously, though, looking back on those years, what a pretty horrible, confusing time. Sure there's great things that happen and you have lots of wonderful experiences. But if I compare those days to now it's like night and day. That's why I really like reading books like White Lines by Jennifer Banash.

Review: White Lines by Jennifer Banash - Pure Imagination

review 1: I really liked the story for the most part, it just dragged slightly in the middle. Overall it was a good look in to the club scene in New York through a teenage perspective. Cat was a main character you just wanted to root for, you wanted to see her make the right choices and it frustrates you when she makes the wrong ones.

Jennifer Banash (Author of Silent Alarm) - Goodreads

White Lines by Jennifer Banash is a fairly dark young adult book set in the 1980s (so, that's basically historical fiction right? WOW I AM OLD) featuring the dangerous world of drugs. So, basically this book is lots of drugs and clubbing and the 1980s. I liked it, but did not love it or really, really [...]

Despite the title's obvious drug reference, this is less a scare-'em-straight story than a memoirlike account of a lost club kid navigating 1980s New York's underground parties.

I don't want to be this person anymore, but I've been running for so long, I don't know how to stop, how to stand still, how to begin again. Seventeen-year-old Cat is club kid royalty, with the power to decide who gets past the velvet rope at some of the hottest clubs in the city. She lives for the night with its high-inducing energy, pulsing music and those seductive white lines that can ...
