It's only February 2016, but Tom Hart's incandescent memoir about the loss of his (and wife Leela Corman's) two year-old daughter will be talked about all year, and I'm confident it will come up again in year-end book of the year round-ups.. I know Tom and Leela, and briefly met Rosalie as a baby. But even strangers to their family will know them intimately when the story's done.

Whenever I go to the bookstore, I usually head straight to the memoir section, then literary fiction, then psychological thrillers, then cookbooks... but never short stories. It seems like a lot of effort to dig into a story just to have it end abruptly — especially compared to a novel or memoir ...
